Adoption fee includes spay/neuter, FeLV Testing, deworming, age-appropriate vaccines, and flea/tick medication. You are responsible for follow-up vaccinations including rabies and distemper boosters if needed.

Foster-to-adopt kittens (kittens too young to be fixed) will be examined by a vet and FeLV tested during spay/neuter. FeLV testing is most accurate at older ages. Until then, you should keep the kitten separate from household cats until tested. Please consult with your vet if you have any questions.
